Introduction to Comparative Politics

This course will introduce students to the study of comparative politics, which is defined as the study of domestic politics anywhere in the world. As a way of cutting into this vast topic, we specifically focus on the process of democratic transition by analyzing the democratic revolution that has swept the globe during the last thirty years. In turn we will explore the causes of democratization, threats to democratization, and factors that may aid in a successful consolidation of democracy. As part of this process, students will be exposed to a wide range of topics in comparative politics, including the politics of economic reform, party systems and voting, theories of ethnic politics, and social capital.

Requirements

The course is taught in two lectures (M, W, 11:00 – 12:15) and one recitation each week. Grading is based on a final exam (50%), a mid-term (20%), a 5-7 page paper (20%, due December 5th), and recitation participation (10%).

Readings

This course is not taught from a textbook. Students are welcome to purchase a comparative politics textbook if they like, but there is no particular text for this class. Instead, readings will be drawn from 5 books recommended for purchase (also available on reserve at Bobst Library) and a course pack that contains a collection of articles and book chapter. The course pack can be purchased at New University Copying on 11 Waverly.

All students are expected to have completed the relevant reading before the recitation meeting each week. There are approximately 100 – 150 pages of reading a week; some are more and some are less. In particular, the weeks on the moment of transition, economic reform, and social capital have heavy reading requirement. Please plan ahead accordingly! Please note that both the mid-term and final will have questions that draw directly from the readings.

The following books are recommended for purchase and are available for purchase at the NYU Book Store:

Robert Putnam, Making Democracy Work (Princeton University Press, 1993)
Jeffrey Sachs, Poland's Jump to the Market Economy (MIT University Press, 1994)
Timothy G. Ash, The Magic Lantern, (Vintage Books, 1993)
Larry Diamond et. al. (eds.) The Global Resurgence of Democracy 2nd Edition, (Johns Hopkins, 1996)
Juan Linz and Alfred Stepan, Problems of Democratic Transition and Consolidation (Johns Hopkins, 1996)

Readings not contained in these books can be found in the course pack or on Professor Tucker's website: <http://homepages.nyu.edu/~jat7/>

Office Hours

All TAs will hold office hours weekly. Students should always contact their TA first concerning any logistical questions regarding the course.

Professor Tucker will hold office hours on Thursdays from 10:30 – 12:00 in his office in room 430 at 19 West 4th Street. If you need to schedule a time to meet outside of the scheduled office hours, please email Professor Tucker directly.
